

JED Engineering welcomes Miriam M. Morros

We are pleased to announce the newest member of the JED management team, Miriam M. Morros, Associate Vice President for CM Services/Director of Design-Build.

Ms. Morros brings over 30 years of Program, Construction Management and Design-Build experience for various City Agencies and Authorities. Recently as Senior Project Manager/Resident Engineer, she led the JED team responsible for the $30+ million White Box and Fit out renovation of Building 111 at the JFK Airport for the Port Authority of NY and NJ. Prior to joining JED she was a Senior Project Engineer with TDX serving the NYS Dormitory Authority and Office of Mental Health, responsible for the QA/QC and management of the new $234 million Residential Building at South Beach Psychiatric Center. For twelve years as Senior Project Manager with Gilbane and Jacobs, serving the NYS Office of General Services, she was responsible for managing concurrent projects using a number of project delivery methods including the $45 million design-build of the New Central Service Building at the South Beach Psychiatric Center.

With over 15 years in the public sector, Ms. Morros held the position of Deputy Program Director for the NYC Department of Design and Construction, and she was responsible for a capital construction portfolio of over $200 million. She played an integral part of the DDC team managing the World Trade Center Recovery Effort.

Ms. Morros has a Bachelor degree and Master in Architecture, and a Certification in Green Roof Design and Installation.

Miriam is based in our New York City office: 32 Broadway, Suite 1601
